

MINNESOTA: Rivers and Fields ORDER FORM

A 13-part series on the history of the Minnesota River Basin

Produced by

UNIVERSITY OF MINNESOTA, MORRIS

The Minnesota Rivers and Fields video series explores the natural history, agricultural history, and agricultural development of the area of the Minnesota River Watershed.

The rivers and the fertile soils in this region have long provided for the people who lived here. Now, as economic stresses threaten farming communities and concern for the environment causes many people to reevaluate our use of the land, farmers, scientists and economists are working to find ways to keep farming economically viable while preserving our land for future generations.

This series is available for purchase by individual episode or the entire set. For multiple copies of one program or bulk ordering, please contact University of Minnesota, Morris directly at (320) 589-6150. Please allow 4-6 weeks delivery. No cash or credit cards will be accepted. We thank you for purchasing this series and hope you enjoy viewing it.
